

The arrivals since last report have been three—the Anaka, B. C. Murray and Mary Belle Roberts, and the R. M. & Zulu, all from San Francisco today, and arriving within a few hours of each other. The consequence has been a busy day on the dock, as compared with the quiet of the past fortnight.

The departure has been the Willard Mudgett on the 14th and the B. C. Murray on the 15th, both for San Francisco, with domestic produce valued in the aggregate at $90,192.15. Zulu, for the Colonies this evening.

Our dates from San Francisco are to the 11th inst., for the Zulu, today. The following quotations are from the Alto:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21.

From time to time we are cognizant of complaints, not loud nor deep, but nevertheless as frequent as the term of Court comes around, from those who are called upon to do jury duty, to the effect that the system is not managed as fairly as it might be. The complainers say that the plan of drawing juries might and in justice ought to be so arranged with regard to the considerable number of qualified foreigners here, as to more equally distribute the sometimes onerous task of jury duty than is now the case, when as frequently occurs, the same man or men are drawn term after term, while their neighbors, in every respect as reasonably and legally liable and quite as well qualified for the duty, are never summoned to the Court House.

The latest statute law in relation to the preparation of jury lists and the drawing of jurors, is to be found at page 23 of the Session Laws of 1870. By this it is provided that the Governors of Oahu and Maui, in concert with some judge of a court of record, shall prepare semi-annually, in the months of March and September, a list of the names of fifty persons being foreigners by birth or of foreign parentage, residing within their gubernatorial divisions, who, in the opinion of such governor or judge are fit to serve as jurors. This list is sent to the clerk of the Supreme Court, who writes each name on a separate piece of paper and deposits the same in an appropriate box. Twenty days before the sitting of the court the clerk is required to draw from such box the names of twenty-four jurors for the term, drawing to be had in the presence of a justice of the Court, who certifies to the regularity of the proceedings, and the list of names thus finally drawn is transmitted to the Marshal, whose duty it is to summon the parties.

In making up every six months the list of fifty names from which the twenty-four jurors are eventually to be drawn, it must be remembered that those of all persons are omitted who hold any consular or other position under a foreign government, all Hawaiian government officials, and all persons of the class known as professionals, such as clergymen, lawyers and doctors, so that, when we come to select still further those who for other and sufficient reasons would not be included in the list, the body from which the selection is to be made is not in reality so large as at first thought it might appear to be. And we are assured by those who have the matter in charge of making up the jury lists, that no effort is spared to equalize as far as possible the burden of this duty, a duty it may be added, which every citizen owes to his fellow and to the country. Still, it may be, as stated, that with even all the care that has been exercised, some in the community who are in every respect qualified for jury duty have as yet been overlooked in making up the lists, which of course operates to increase the chances of others being drawn repeatedly.

Encourage the mechanics at home, rather than those abroad. We were led to this reflection after observing a very superior freight wagon made for the Lanai Ranch by Mr. Jacob Holck, and ironed by Messrs. West & Coleman. Every piece of timber in this conveyance has been selected with care, and the best quality of iron made use of, and then wrought and put together by skillful hands with a thoroughness in respect to strength and efficiency, which you could not expect to be devoted to an article designed for exportation. Let the cost of home and foreign manufacture be equal, or even a little in favor of the imported article, and we say all the time encourage the mechanics whom we have here, living with us, and spending their money in the country. But we don't urge this point on account of the principle of charity beginning at home; there is no charity in the matter. You serve your own interest when you encourage a skillful neighbor to make an article you need, under your own immediate personal inspection. The proprietor of this wagon is satisfied that one of such strength and thorough adaptability to the purpose it cost him here, and therefore he feels it to be decidedly his interest to encourage our home mechanics. These views apply to our ship carpenters who can build an ocean steamer; to our tailors who can make suits equal to the best you can import from abroad; to our boot-makers who can rival Benkert; to our jewelers who are skilled in a tasteful and cunning workmanship in the precious metals, which would command attention in Paris, the city of taste; and to many other classes of mechanics and artisans who are as well skilled as those of the countries from whence they came. And inasmuch as we are in need of people, therefore we say encourage the immigration and settlement of the mechanic here, rather than the importation of his workmanship from abroad.

On the question of regulating the currency by law, opinions vary extensively and radically, and two persons being found who will agree in their reasoning or deductions from like premises. This being the case in the great centres of trade and commerce, we need not be surprised that it is so also in this little kingdom, where, owing to the fact that we have no currency of our own, we have from time to time and with no better success than could have been expected, endeavored to regulate by law that which is to be
